

I am honored that you are interested in studying music with me and I look forward to our musical explorations together!

What to Expect in Lessons with Logan Hone

Scheduling

We can aim for weekly, bi-weekly, or more sporadic lessons.

My schedule can be a little unpredictable with gigs and touring, so if you can be flexible with me, I'll be flexible with your schedule.

Let's just keep good communication and give each other a heads-up whenever possible.

Punctuality & Preparation

Let's aim to be punctual. Lessons will start and end right on time.

Try to have your instrument, computer, and materials ready 10 minutes before the lesson begins so you can do long tones for 10 minutes before we begin.

This helps everything run more smoothly and makes the lesson even better.

Pricing & Communication

If our initial pricing agreement ever needs to shift, please reach out.

I'm happy to talk and find something that works for both of us.

Lesson Format

Lessons will be held on Zoom (link sent via email).

FaceTime is also possible, though Zoom is preferred for its screen and audio sharing capabilities.

If you'd ever like to come to my studio for an in-person lesson, you're always welcome.

Between lessons, feel free to email questions or short practice videos if you'd like feedback.

Subjects we can explore:

saxophone, flute, piano, bass, guitar, drums, banjo, ukulele, long tones, scales, chords, rhythms, composition, improvisation, recording, jazz transcription, simple tunes, pop n rock n RnB songs, ragtime, music theory, sight reading, musical notation, Musescore, arranging, channeling intentional feelings, articulation, Charlie Parker, Duke Ellington, circular breathing, extended techniques, rhythm section mindset, performance practices, how to compose and arrange in a way that facilitates the most terrific musical outcome possible, practice methods, jazz history, string band tunes, experimental music, free jazz, songwriting, phrasing, letting the music flow freely through your body, instrument care, music by friends & heroes, my music, song interpretation, recording philosophies, more and more let's keep this list growing 🌸
